

Street Blog

The City of Beatrice uses bi-monthly blogs to engage in transparency and connect with citizens. The heads of our City of Beatrice Departments write blogs in a rotation. Each Department Head writes a blog approximately twice per calendar year. You can find blog posts from across all Departments here.

Put a Fork in Winter?

Put a fork in winter? I wouldn't quite yet. I've learned a few things over the last 27 years of doing roadway maintenance:

- 1. February and March are always pothole season,
- 2. winter is hard to predict, and
- 3. how much I hate winter.

I mean, it's cold, windy,...

Read More

Construction Season 2023

Nebraska's 5th season has started in a flurry with a multitude of projects already underway. A mill and overlay project was already completed on 11th Street from Monroe to Lincoln. This project was originally budgeted for completion in the summer of 2022, but due to scheduling it was completed...

Read More

Winter is Coming

Whether we want to admit it or not winter is coming. We've been very lucky with the Indian summer that we have had so far. Mother Nature has outdone herself this year with the beautifully colored trees that are in full display. Unfortunately, though, cool nights and nice days will eventually...

Read More

A Winter to Remember

What a crazy winter we've had so far. In 27 years of doing snow removal, I can't remember one quite as dry as this one. Now we've all seen spring snowstorms that come out of the four corners and dump heavy wet snows, so for those of you hoping for moisture you could still get your wish.

...

Read More

Tis the Season

As the daytime temperatures start to rise and days get longer, you will start to see more and more orange cones and construction signs show up across the City. Construction season is here and like all other years, the City of Beatrice Street Department has a busy season planned.

One...

Read More

Nebraska's 5th Season

Is everyone else as happy as I am that winter is finally done? For most it's finally starting to feel like spring. Ah spring, for some spring means lilacs blooming, morel mushrooms popping and the smell of the first cut grass of the year. For the Street Department it means construction season...

Read More